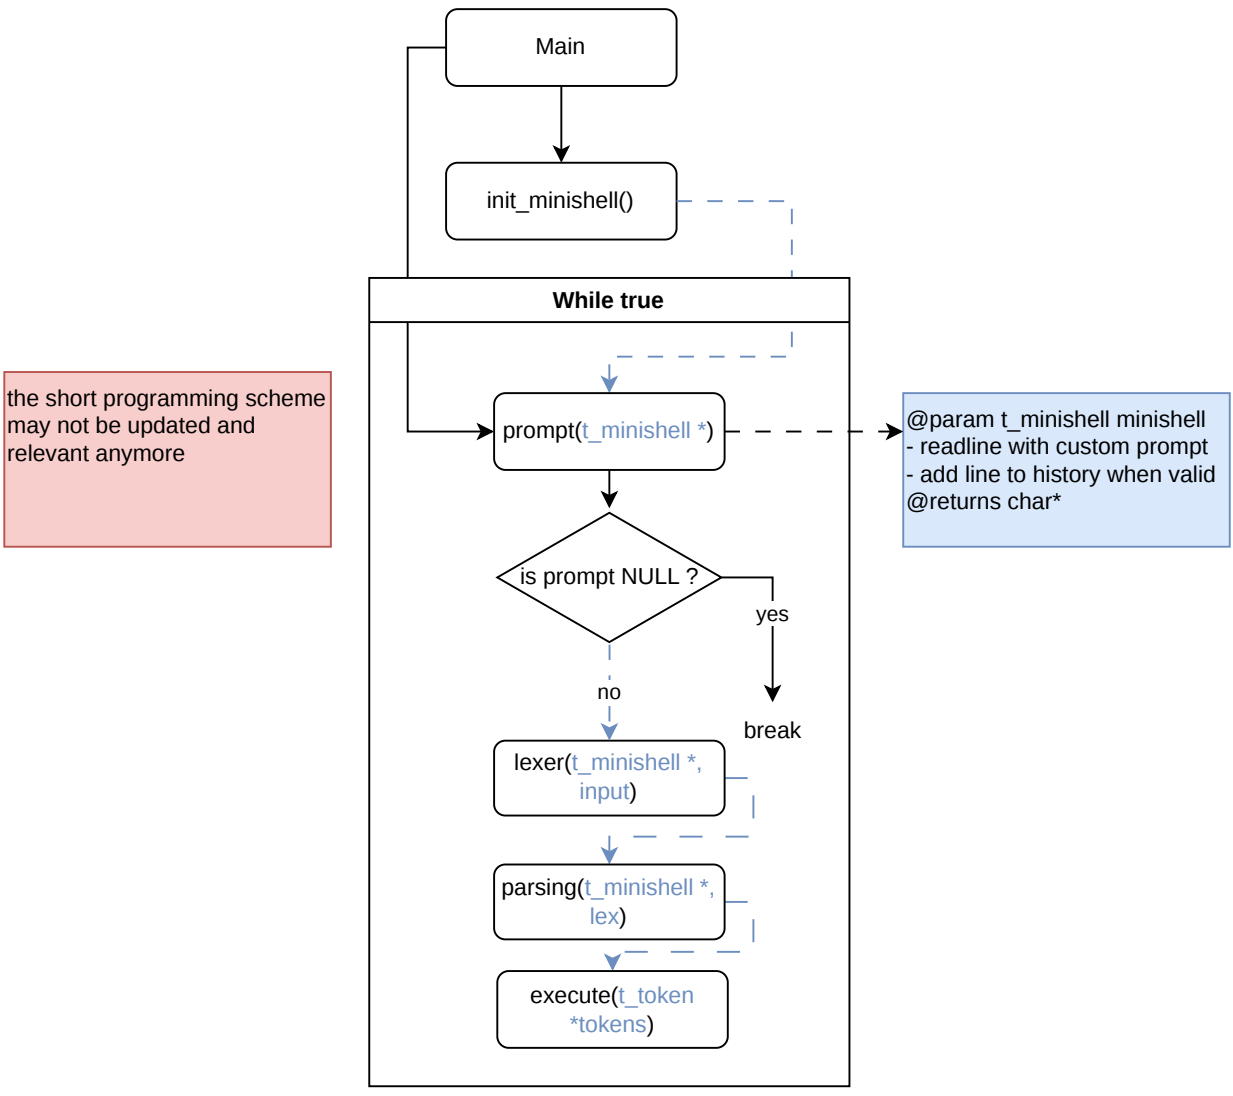
FLOW SCHEME

Short programming scheme



Data structures

minishell & variables

t_minishell is the main data structure environment variables and variables will be stored in the same datastructure property is_env will define if it's environment or not a function will export the structure to a char  for execve t_var is also used inside tokenization to init local variables tokenization